

Northwest Teaching for Social Justice

16th Annual Conference

October 21, 2023

Opening Keynote: Charles E. Cobb Jr.

“Teaching for Freedom in Dangerous Times: Lessons from SNCC, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee”

Closing Keynote: Renée Watson

“Piecing Me Together: The Healing Power of Storytelling”

9AM to 3:30 PM

Parkrose High School

Portland, Oregon

This year’s conference has more than 40 workshops. A sampling:

Humanizing Houselessness: Storying to Connect

The Oregon Trail Curriculum Project: "Design or Destiny?"

The Heroes We Need Today: Teaching the Radical Lives of Ida B. Wells

Not Too Hot to Handle: Nuclear Waste for Middle Schoolers, Station Rotation Style

Using Densho's Online Resources to Explore the Japanese American Incarceration

We Take It With Us Wherever We Go: Counternarratives of Unaccompanied Migrant and Indigenous Youth

Puberty Education Kits: Education at Your Library

Sharing Our Journeys (Redux): Black and Brown Educators Building Solidarity Through Testimonios

White Educators, Listen Up: How White Educators Can Help Retain Teachers of Color

What Can Data Tell Us About Racial Disparities in School Discipline?

"We Are Not Drowning -- We Are Fighting": Teaching Climate Change, Island Solidarity, and Indigenous Rights

Teach Under Fire: How to Battle the Burn-Out in Social Justice Education

Register now: www.nwtsj.org

$35 Educators, $5 Students

For more information, contact info@nwtsj.org

No one will be turned away for inability to pay; please let us know in advance if you need assistance.

Oregon PDUs and Washington Clock Hours will be available

Hosted by: Seattle Education Association, Washington Education Association, the Oregon Writing Project at Lewis & Clark College, the Portland Association of Teachers, and Rethinking Schools magazine